THE RACKET

Are Men Not to be Trusted?
Here is a singular fact that reflects rather badly upon our lands and manners. Among the insurance people there is constant controversy as to the advisability of taking risks on women's lives. Very conservative companies refuse them to take, while others issue such policies under certain restrictions and restrictions. For example, no company will insure a wife's life in favor of her husband, while absolute the policy issued to men are for the benefit of their wives. When cross-questioned on this point an officer of a great life insurance company evaded an answer, but finally confessed that they feared men would abuse their opportunities.

New York says about one hundred barrels of opium daily. This manufacture was established in that city about thirty years ago, before that time the book-binders, paper hangers, all post-ers, etc., etc., were now about all post-factors in the city. Flour and sugar from the backs of these other ingredients are used, but what they are, and the process of manufacture, are true secrets. The trade in opium is local. New York says for instance, is sold in quantity and substance, there are now many small character in the various larger cities which supply the local demand. Opium sells at about 60c a barrel.

Peculiar to itself.

So enthusiastically successful has Hood's Sarsaparilla been in many leading cities from all over the United States for testimonials of cures which seem almost miraculous. Hood's Sarsaparilla is not an accident, but the fruit of industry and study. It possesses merit, "Peculiar to itself."

Hood's Pills cure Nausea, Bile, Headache, Indigestion, Biliousness, and all ailments.

Olden Time in America.

When we consider the fact that the whole western part of civilization, those natural barriers that were first encountered by the European explorers in America, are peculiarly situated with several kinds of coal, oil, and iron, and the other day a newspaper help expressing surprise when the information came that the first American coal mine was discovered in what is now the state of Ohio. Survival of the Fittest.

A curious but not uncommon custom of snatching toll from newly married couples appears to survive at Witten, Eng., in the Breckford district. The other day a married couple, on their way to the Congregational chapel, on the happy way to their new home, were stopped by a man who had tied their arms together and stretched them across the gateway. When they were released with a doozer and the cab was gained, progress was again hindered by a couple of carter's who had drawn their team across the road and who also sold toll. Sometimes, it is reported, several couples are drawn across the road at intervals along the route, and the legends on the bridge's piers are thus considerable.

How to Test a Diamond.
One of the easiest and most trustworthy methods of determining whether a supposed diamond is genuine or false is as follows: Place a hole in a wood with a needle or pin, and then look at it, as the stone is a lens. If the supposed diamond is genuine you will see the hole in the wood, two will appear. With an imitation stone you will see the lines on the side of your finger, with the true gem you will see the hole in the wood.

As wheat will probably be low this year in the greater region for saving it clear without any saving. This was obtained by using the Milwaukee Binder, sold by Fox Bros., Russell, Ky.

The public was invited to the Tabernacle last night for an hour to see the handsome decorations and artistic illumination. A large number of the ladies of C. E. in electric lights is one of the pretty features.

Some people may try to persuade you not to buy a Milwaukee Binder or Mower on the ground that you can not get repairs here. Fox Bros. will obviate this trouble by keeping a full line of repairs for both Binders and Mowers.

This week's tobacco season was a very light one and not so extended over the tobacco territory but farmers who had their ground prepared took advantage of the night season and put out many plants. About two-thirds of the crop was in this country.

Miss—You can buy a bicycle from Forbes & Bro. and pay for it weekly or monthly installments to suit your monthly salary. It will reduce the cost to your check, as you will have it at once of spring fever, develop your muscles, and send your physician about his business.

Smith & O'Connell, of this city, will appear at the Elkhorn Opera House, Elkhorn, to-morrow night. The troupe is composed strictly of local talent and has been under rigid rehearsal for several weeks. The company appeared at Friendship Hall a few days ago and gave quite a creditable show and played to a crowded house.

Mr. Clarence Anderson of this city was sent and took a picture of all of the family who were present.

Mr. John O. Ellis has decided to sell his livery business in this city and attention is called to his address which appears in this issue. Mr. Ellis is well equipped for the business, which he has followed with success for several years and the party who succeeds him will step into a well established business. Good land is one of the best livery outfits in the city and contains a large share of the best drivers in the city.

The Ladies' Confraternity Memorial Association has to express profound appreciation of and thanks to two gentlemen for assistance in the recent Memorial service. Geo. B. Hunter and Judge Tyler had been invited to speak—and it was only known on Thursday that neither could be present. Mr. Hunter and Mr. McKen are assuming their places at no late date, showed a generous courtesy and relieved the ladies of great embarrassment.

CREAM OF NEWS.

The Stangers in Our Gates.

The strangers now in Hopkinsville who may be favorably impressed with our prosperous little city. We are sure that every one of our 7,000 people will accord them a generous welcome. They will find Hopkinsville one of the best cities in Kentucky. It has splendid business blocks and more of them going up. It has 15 miles of the best streets in Kentucky and over 20 miles of brick paving. It has 11 churches, 11 schools, 11 high schools and more than 1,000 pupils in the Public Schools, white and colored. A $60,000 hotel, the finest in the State outside of Louisville, will be opened in October. It has electric lights, gas, telephones and excellent railroad facilities. It is the center of a farming section that rivals the Bluegrass and is backed by a population of nearly 40,000 in the county. It has the largest and most complete manufacturing and milling interests of any growing importance. Christian churches are one of the largest and most complete in Kentucky and Hopkinsville is a city of homes and pleasant homes. We have everything that other people have and if our guests do not see what they want here they will go to Louisville.

When the shareholders of the Vendome Club, Kentucky, entered room 302 at 2305 Wednesday afternoon, they found the dead body of a man.

Heard Ford, son of Col. J. E. Ford, of Lexington, Ky., lying in bed. Young Ford retired at 10:30 Tuesday night in apparently good spirits. Everything about the room indicated suicide. Beside him on the bed was a 25-cent Smith & Wesson revolver with one chamber empty. He had shot himself in the mouth, the bullet coming out at the back of the head.

He said that his body was unbalanced and that his parents had told the body will arrive in this city the next morning.

Young Ford was his father's only son. He had been in Chicago for two weeks as clerk at the Vendome Hotel. He was 24 years old and well known in the city.

Heavy Sales Continue.

This week's sales will foot over with those of last week and prove a right in line. Offerings amounted to about 600 hogheads and sales ran nearly 500 hogheads. Repaid sales were probably more frequent than last week from the fact that the demand for goods offered was not so great as formerly. Good led sales as high as $150, and logs registered $50. Common leaf and fatty lard did not command extraordinary prices.
